

Seed

A seed is an initial value that is fed into a pseudo random number generator to start or kick off the process of random number generation.